Body laid out and diagrammed as if skinned like you describe some plants who flower without bearing fruit. Beneath this curve of musculature lays/lies the first kidney “The freest thing about him is the unrestricted flow of blood in his body which we trace from one chamber to the other then in narrowing passages branching softly through him and reaching into the folds of his skin, the tepid swaying tide of it washing as foam on the cell shores when he is at rest.” When he is at rest and gentle blossom haha But you would have done just as well said evacuating the soft effluvia of your bowels

But you would have done just as well to have said evacuating the soft effluvia of your bowels

Once you walked into a kitchen at night and emptied your stomach across the floor stood there sleeping. picture the course it takes on a moving floor or the surface inside a traincar as it moved and the old man there contorting along a broken hip as he stands. Thin corpselicked stray alley cat laying by the road ready. Following beside a chestnut mistaken interest of a tall man the way seeds of plants cling to you in circuitous letters

The neurotic pastoral the median vagina, median semen
